中国和可再生能源

文 / 韦理, 翻译编本

中国目前正在积极争取改善其可再生能源基础设施。在2014年，中国投资了833亿美元在可再生能源的建设上，这个数字超过了美国和欧盟投资在

这个项目的总和。相比之下，美国只投入了383亿美元。到2020

年，中国的五年计划将可再生能源占全国总能源的比重提升到15%。中国政府也在大力投资基础设施建设，包

括为企业提供补贴以便于他们可以追求绿色能源生产。因此，中国目前持有世界上24%的可再生能源储备，并超过其他任何一个国家。尽管如此，中国仍在努力解决温室气体排放

问题。他们仍然是世界上最大的温室气体排放国。从2007年至今，中国一直处于这个位置。目前，世界上22%的温室气体排放都来自中国。然而，为了缓解这一问题，中国政府不仅一直大

China and Renewable Energy by Jessica Williams

China is currently undergoing an aggressive campaign for improving its renewable energy infrastructure. In 2014, China spent more than the European Union and the United States combined on renewable energy investments, at an impressive $83.3 billion. The U.S. only spent $38.3 billion, for comparison. China's Five Year Plans have pushed to increase renewable energy production to 15% of China's total energy by 2020. The government has also been heavily investing in infrastructure as well as providing subsidies for companies in order for them to pursue cleaner energy production. As a result of this, China currently holds 24% of the world's renewable energy reserves, the highest of any country. Despite this, China still struggles with greenhouse gas emissions. They are still the world's largest emitter. This title was given to them in 2007 and has persisted ever since. They currently produce 22% of the world's greenhouse gas emissions. The Chinese government, however, has been investing heavily not only into green energy infrastructure but also the efficiency of non-renewable energy production in order to limit their greenhouse gas emissions.

2016 SGA Presidential election candidates establish their agendas

By Paul "Francis" Wilson

Jay Todd Richey, WKU junior from Glasgow, faces Braxton Powell, from Russellville, in the 2016 WKU Student Government Association (SGA) Presidential election.

Whoever elected to office will serve as the official voice of the entire WKU student body, and will have a great impact on the many functions of the university, such as policy enforcement, student representation, and community awareness of important issues.

This year, Richey, the current president of SGA, introduces a campaign platform that would expand upon many aspects of his 2015-2016 agenda, and in addition presents plans to confront issues of college affordability and suicide prevention.

"We [at WKU] are in a very precarious situation with funding from the state," Richey said. According to Richey, this issue may have

China plans that its carbon emissions will peak no later than 2030. They have also partnered with the U.S. in the U.S-China Renewable Energy Partnership or the USCREP. The USCREP hopes to pave the way in the global transition to a clean energy economy.

China has taken their role in the USCREP very seriously, developing many plans for the future. Among these plans are specific goals set by the government for individual forms of energy. For wind, the government hopes to produce 250 gigawatts from turbines by 2020. As evidence of this, almost 50% of all new wind turbines in 2015 were built in China. Because of pursuits to mass produce wind turbines, the government hopes to cut wind costs by 3-5% annually. China currently has the largest wind power market in the world. For solar energy, China plans to use solar panels to produce 150-200 gigawatts by 2020. They also have pursued mass production of solar panels and hope to cut costs of solar energy by 2% each year. Due to China's aggressive campaign for renewable energy, solar energy is now cheaper than other common forms of energy production, such as coal and nuclear energy. Even though China has been aggressively pursuing a clean energy policy, coal still is a major part of their energy, accounting for 70% of it. China is the top coal consumer of the world.

As China's plans unfold, there is much hope for the future of green energy in China as well as the world. ■

力投资建设绿色能源基础设施，而且限制不可再生能源的生产。按照政府的计划，在2030年之前，中国的碳排放量将达到顶峰。中国也正在和美国合作，建立了中美可再生能源合作，简称USCREP。USCREP希望给全球提供一个向清洁能源型经济转型的道路。

中国非常重视其在USCREP的作用，提供了许多未来的规划。这些规划是由政府设

定的关于建设不同种类能源基础设施的具体措施。在风能方面，政府希望在2020年之前由风能提供的电力能达到2500亿瓦。事实证明，中国正在朝着这个方向努力。在2015年，中国制造了全世界50%新的风力发电机。由于追求大规模生产风力发电机，政府希望每年降低3%-5%的风电成本。中国目前已拥有世界上最大的风能市场。在太阳能方面，中国希望在2020年之前使用太阳能发电1500到2000亿瓦。由于同样在太阳能方面追求

大规模生产，政府希望每年降低2%的成本在太阳能上。由于中国在可再生能源方面的大力推进，如今，太阳能的价格已经低于其他常见形式的能源，如煤炭和核能。尽管中国一直在积极推行清洁能源政策，煤炭依旧是其主要的能源供应之一，占全部比重的70%。中国是全球最大的煤炭消费国。

通过可持续发展协会发布

WKU社区将于四月二十二日，星期五，上午十点至下午两点举行庆祝地球日的地球日节日庆典。

今年的地球日节日庆典，由学生会组织协会的可持续发展委员会和可持续发展协会联合举办。我们将以艺术、音乐、美食和朋友们与我们分享的可持续

“WKU的地球日节日庆典是一种对于我们可爱的地球和所有我们为了保护环境正在做的美好的事情，和对于更关心环境的本地和全世界的人民的一种庆祝WKU 地球日是对我们可爱的地球和对所有我们现

在为了保护地球环境所做的事情和对更关心环境的本地和全世界人民的庆典” Christian Ryan, WKU可持续发展协会管理员，说道，“我希望每个人都可以抽出一点时间，加入我们的庆典，享受这一天。”

Earth Day Festival

Released by the Office of Sustainability

The WKU community will be celebrating Earth Day with its annual Earth Day Festival from 10a.m. to 2p.m. on Friday, April 22.

This year's Earth Day Festival, organized by the Student Government Association Sustainability Committee and the Office of Sustainability, will be celebrating the day with art, music, food, and friends sharing their sustainability stories.

"The WKU Earth Day Festival is a celebration of our lovely planet and of all the wonderful things that we are doing to be better stewards of the environment, and more mindful local and global citizens," Said Christian

Ryan, WKU Sustainability Coordinator. "I hope everyone will take a little time and join the celebration and enjoy the day."

The festival will feature on-stage, live performances from local artists and musicians, such as Just Us, The Red Shirts, The TrebleMakers, and various poets at a Poetry Slam.

On Earth Day, Centennial Mall will host over thirty vendors from WKU and the local Bowling Green community. The festival will debut the Confucius Institute food truck, the Zest! Juice trailer, and The Community Farmers Market mobile market bus to name just a few. Hilltoppers and community members are encouraged stop by the festival to feast on bike-powered smoothies, Feel Good World grilled cheese, Chaney's ice cream, goodies from the Pie Queen, and other delicious food for sample and sale. Local vendors will also be selling plants, fresh vegetables and other sustainable good things.

In addition, the festival will host several contests throughout the day, including an interactive art project and a Nat's & Friends of Mammoth Cave obstacle course at Centennial Mall, as well as the Waste Characterization Study on the South Lawn.

"This is the 10th Anniversary of the Earth Day Festival here at WKU. We want this to be the biggest and best festival thus far," Said Chelsea Faught, Student Sustainability Coordinator. "While the festival is a day of celebration, it is also a day of education that promotes green initiatives and sustainable practices that guests and participants can implement in their everyday lives."

For further information, refer to www.wku.edu/sustainability/ or contact Christian Ryan, (270) 745-2508. ■

烤芝士三明治, Chaney的冰激凌, 来自Pie Queen的好吃的, 和其他可供试吃和购买的美味食物。本地供应商也将出售植物, 新鲜蔬菜和其他可持续发展的好产品。

此外, 在Centennial Mall, 和Waste Characterization Study的南草坪, 节日里的一整天都会有比赛举行, 比赛包括一个交互式艺术项目和一个Nat's & Friends的猛犸洞穴般的越野障碍比赛。

"今年, 是WKU举办地球日

Chelsea Faught, 可持续发展协调管理协会的学生代表说道, "这个节日不仅是值得庆祝的一天, 它还是值得学习的一天, 它可以让我们来参加节日的人们了解更多我们在日常生活中可行的绿色可持续发展行为。"

a great impact on the international community on campus. Kentucky state cuts to higher education funding may mean possible cuts to WKU departmental programming, a decrease faculty and staff, and an increase in student tuition.

The Richey-Neeper-Hart campaign also stresses the importance of increasing suicide prevention programming and awareness in the WKU community. One goal Richey has is obtaining a Garrett Lee Smith Suicide Prevention Grant for WKU, which would fund campus-wide suicide prevention initiatives.

While Richey proposes plans to tackle community-specific issues such as budget cuts and suicide prevention, Powell's vision is more focussed on building SGA recognition and influence on campus. "My vision for WKU's SGA is to see it flourish into an organization that positively influences the lives of everyday students," Powell stated in a public Facebook post announcing his campaign on April 5, 2016.

This is Powell's first time running for higher office in SGA. He has served as a student senator, active in the SGA Campus Improvements Committee.

Powell thinks it important to get new, incoming students active in SGA as soon as possible. He proposes the creation of a leadership program facilitated by SGA for freshman. The program would involve reaching out to local and national business and political leaders to create professional programming.

Although the two candidates' platforms contrast on several issues, both support the continuation of the SGA committee MyCampusToo, created in 2015, which seeks to encourage under-represented groups on campus to get involved in SGA and campus affairs. Many international students participated in the committee's organized meetings and events, however it has so far lacked the presence of Chinese WKU students.

"One group that we didn't get to prioritize as much as I like are Chinese students," Richey said in the SGA presidential debate on April 13, 2015. "I would love to have a part of MyCampusToo that is specifically designed to reach out to Asian students—to represent their needs."

"We [SGA] are not here to represent the small majority, we are here to represent everyone," Braxton said. "It is important to reach out to the Chinese community."

Elections for the 2016-17 SGA President will take place April 18-19, 2016. All students are encouraged to vote.

减了高等教育的经费，这可能会造成西肯塔基大学行政经费的缩减，行政人员的数量裁减，以及学生学费的提高。

Richey-Neeper-Hart 竞选活动也致力于自杀防治计划的制定，以及提高西肯塔基大学对此问题的重视。Richey也已经获得了Garrett Lee Smith的经费赞助，协助自杀防治活动在校园内的推广。

Richey表示，预算缩减和下一任学生会会长选举都还有很大的不确定性。他仍旧可能成为下一届的西肯学生会会长。

在Richey提出如何解决预算缩减以及自杀防治问题

的同时，Powell却更着重于建立西肯学生会在校园里的承认以及影响力。Powell在2016年4月5日在脸书上发表声明表示，他期待看到西肯塔基大学的西肯学生会能成为一个活跃的社团，对学生的日常生活有正面的影响。

这是Powell第一次竞选西肯学生会高级干部。他之前有担任学生议员的经验，且在西肯学生会校园进步委员会十分活跃。

Powell认为，有更多活跃的学生加入西肯学生会是十分重要的。他建议西肯学生会为大一新生创立领导计划，计划应包含地方以及全国性的企业参访还有政治领袖的访问，提供专业的活动制定。

虽然两位候选人的政见在许多议题上相抵触，但两位候选人皆赞成持续推动创立于2015年的西肯学生会的MyCampusToo委员会，企图鼓励校园中不具代表性的团体参与西肯学生会的事务。许多国际学生加入该委员会的会议与组织，但却少有西肯塔基大学的中国学生。

在2015年4月13日的西肯学生会会长辩论中，Richey表示：“中国学生族群并未得到预期中的优先处理，我希望在MyCampusToo中能有一个特定的机会给亚洲学生，让他们能够表达他们的需求。”

Braxton表示：“我们西肯学生会并非代表少部分的群体，我们代表着每一个人。和中国社群的连结是

非常重要的。”

然而在记载中，Powell并未特别讨论西肯塔基大学的亚洲社群，当我们特别在电话访问里问及此事时，他回答：“我们还在处理相关事务，我们之后会发布结论。”

2016-17的西肯学生会选举将在2016年4月18-19日举行，所有的学生可以去投票。

西肯塔基大学学生会与国际学生

文 / 化小可 (编辑: 温乃杰)

西肯塔基大学学生会 (西肯学生会) 是代表全体西肯学生参与学校事务, 发表观点以及为学生争取权益的组织, 它应该既代表美国学生也代表国际学生。然而大部分西肯学生会成员是美国

学生, 很少有国际学生加入, 没有中国及其他亚洲学生。尽管西肯学生会已经采取措施以争取中国加入, 但收效甚微。

作为西肯大学大家庭的成员, 中国留学生的想法与观点也应该得到重视, 并且可以参与学生会, 通过学生会将想法传达给学校

目前, 中国学生没有加入学生会的主要原因有两点。其一, 西肯学生会的宣传工作还有不足, 以至于很多留学生并不了解学生会, 甚至不知道学生会的存在。他们更不了解学生会的组织结构, 日常工作, 人员更替等相关信息。其二, 中国留学生来到美国, 在一个新的陌生的环境里, 出于对自己的保护, 不太愿意参与到复

杂的活动中, 尤其是他们不熟悉的组织。这两个问题不仅存在于中国学生, 其他亚洲国家的留学生也面临相同的问题。

要让更多中国学生加入学生会, 最重要的解决方法是加大对学生会的宣传和介绍。通过宣传介绍, 让西肯大学的中国学生更加了解学生会, 在了解的基础上, 中国学生会愿意尝试在学生会中工作, 当他

Western Kentucky University SGA and International Students

By Xiaoke Hua, translated

Western Kentucky University Student Government Association (SGA) serves as the official representative of all students active in school affairs, fights for the opinions and interests of the whole student body, and is supposed to not only represent American students but also international students as well. However, the majority of students in SGA are American students, plus there are very few international students involved, and no Chinese or other Asian students in the organization. Although SGA has taken measures to encourage Chinese participation in the organization, these efforts have been largely ineffective.

As a member of the family from Western Kentucky University, Chinese students' thoughts and views should be taken seriously.

And of course they should participate in student government, to lead and share ideas, and to participate in the school's affairs.

Currently, Chinese students are not active in SGA for two main reasons. First, SGA's outreach is weak—many students do not know what SGA is, or that it even exists. They do not understand the SGA's organizational structure, efforts and goals, leadership positions and other important, relevant information. Second, Chinese students new to the United States are in a new and unfamiliar environment. For this reason, these students do not often get involved in complex, confusing matters, especially when they are not familiar with the respective organization. These two issues are not only issues concerning Chinese students—students from other Asian countries also face these same problems.

To get more Chinese students involved in SGA, the most important solution is to better promote SGA campus-wide. Through better pub-

Strategic Absence: What is the role of the PRC in the fight against Radical Jihad?

By Noah A. Stevens

It was late last year that some buzz circulated through American media outlets that the People's Republic of China might join the coalition to fight against the Islamic State (henceforth referred to by an acronym of its transliterated Arabic name: Da'ish). Newsweek and The Daily Beast, among others, were convinced that the PRC would finally emerge and take a leadership role in the fight against radical jihad in the Middle East.

Why is it, then, that we have not heard of Chinese operations striking the heart of Da'ish like we have from the US and Russia? It is because they did not emerge from bureaucratic talks willing to take a hands-on approach to dealing with the terror group. This decision led many within the foreign policy community across the globe to ask why it seemed as if the PRC was reluctant to follow the path of other global superpowers in dealing with the threat. China, like many other nations, has much to fear from the emergence of Da'ish, which has now spread from its stronghold in Iraq to encompass much of Syria, all the while knocking at the doors to Jordan, Turkey, and Lebanon. Even its ally in the region, the Islamic Republic of Iran, called for Chinese intervention to stop the spread of Da'ish. In a meeting with PRC Foreign Minister Wang Yi in December of 2015, a senior leader in an advisory position to the Iranian Supreme Leader Ayatollah Khamenei stressed this idea and explicitly stated: "China can significantly help the regional peace and stability by becoming more active in the fight against the Islamic State."

This call follows suspicion that the often-lauded recruiting tactics of Da'ish have begun to see results in parts of China. Multiple news outlets have confirmed a statement issued by Da'ish claiming hundreds, maybe thousands, of Uighurs (the Muslim minority group in China) have traveled to Syria to enlist with the radical terror group.

So if China has begun to feel the effects of the proliferation of jihadists in the Middle East, why have they decided against intervention? The answer seems to be that the PRC is intent on following a long tradition of foreign policy as it pertains to the region, something some have called 'strategic absence.' This idea holds that China, the world's largest military, has been reluctant to exercise explicit geopolitical power in the Middle East and North Africa. This policy has been long-running for the PRC. And while dependent on the region's oil, Xi Jinping would much rather let the other permanent members of the UN Security Council (US, Russia, UK, and France) handle the quagmire that has become direct diplomacy there.

This hesitant approach, however, may be in the best interest of the PRC as it is far less likely to be viewed as an imperialist than the Russian Federation or the United States, who have a tendency to either intervene to depose or sustain autocrats in the region. The PRC intends on expanding joint-training exercises and intelligence sharing with its Middle Eastern allies moving forward, but it is impossible to determine to what extent the PRC will adhere to this idea of strategic absence if the threats move closer to home. ■

战略性不干涉：中国在反对伊斯兰国恐怖组织的战争中应该扮演怎样的角色？

نوح ستيفنز / 文

在去年年底，有一则关于中华人民共和国可能会加入反伊斯兰国恐怖组织（下文简称为由阿拉伯名字直译的首字母缩写：Da'ish）的联合行动的新闻。包括<<新闻周刊>>和<<每日野兽>>在内的各大媒体都相信，中国最终将会在中东反激进圣战的斗争中起领导性作用。

但是为什么我们还没有像从美国和俄罗斯一样，从中国听到反击Da'ish的消息？这是因为从政府会谈中可以看出他们还不愿意直接对付恐怖组织。这个决议引起了许多来自包括

外交政策界在内的境外质疑声：为何在对付恐怖主义威胁的道路上，中国似乎不愿意追随其他超级大国？甚至它的同盟国伊朗伊斯兰共和国也呼吁中国的涉入来阻止Da'ish的扩张。2015年12月在和中国外交部部长王毅的会面上，伊朗最高领袖哈梅内伊的高级领导人之一，以顾问的身份强调了以下想法并明确表示：“通过更加积极地反对伊斯兰共和国恐怖组织，中国一定能够在维护地区和平与稳定上起到巨大的作用。”越来越多的事实促使中国尽早作出决定。据多方媒

体消息确认，Da'ish宣称成百或许上千在中国的穆斯林团体已经抵达叙利亚加入到激进的恐怖组织。在中国国民被Da'ish执行死刑之后，中国政府发表了“强烈谴责”的官方声明。

这样说来，如果中国已经开始受到中东地区伊斯兰圣战者数目激增的影响，那么为什么他们还决定暂不涉入？答案似乎是中国决意坚持长久以来针对地区的传统外交政策“和平共处五项原则”。此观点造成中国作为世界最大的军事力量，却一直不愿意在中东和北非地区直接行使地缘政治力量。该政策长久以来被中国运用。再则，由于对那些地区时候资源的依赖，习近平更

愿意让其他联合国常任理事国（美国，俄罗斯，英国和法国）处理这样的难题，这已经形成为直接的外交策略。

然而这些令人踌躇的方面也许对PRC最为有利，因为这样做最不至于被看作与美国和俄罗斯一样的，倾向于涉入废黜或维持该地区专制政府统治的帝国主义。中国计划将和其中东地区的同盟扩大联合军事演习和情报交流，但无法预测的是，当恐怖威胁更加逼近的时候中国是否还会遵循其传统的外交政策“互不干涉内政”。

as students to fight for their rights and interests and participate in school management and other matters. In this way, they will know that they have influence in the school community, and that it's not just being managed by others. It should

All students should be able
